5 Permission to take part

I give permission for my child to take part in the training camp named above, including training in Brazilian jiu-jitsu, grappling, wrestling or judo, and the activities that are part of the camp programme.

Brazilian jiu-jitsu, grappling, wrestling and judo are full-contact sports. Training includes throws, takedowns, joint locks and chokes. Injuries can happen even when everyone follows the rules: bruises, sprains, dislocations, fractures, concussion, skin infections and, in rare cases, serious or permanent injury.

The camp takes place in the mountains, far from large hospitals. Activities outside training, such as hiking, travel and sightseeing, carry their own risks, including weather and road conditions.

6 Permission to travel and stay with CHIDAOBA

I give permission for my child to travel to and from the camp and to stay at the camp venue under the supervision of CHIDAOBA coaches and staff, on the dates written above. This includes:

- Transport arranged by CHIDAOBA from the meeting point to the camp and back.
- Shared accommodation with participants of the same sex and a similar age.
- Supervised activities outside training, such as meals, hikes and sightseeing.
- My child may not leave the camp venue without a member of staff.

Meeting point and time

At the end of the camp my child may be collected only by me or by the people named here:

7 Rules and behaviour

I have explained the camp rules to my child: follow the coaches' instructions, respect training partners and staff, no alcohol, tobacco or drugs, and keep to the agreed times for sleep and phones. If my child seriously or repeatedly breaks these rules, CHIDAOBA may contact me to arrange an early return, at my cost.

8 Medical treatment

If my child is injured or falls ill, I allow CHIDAOBA staff to give first aid, call emergency services and take my child to a doctor or hospital. If I cannot be reached in time, I allow the doctors to give the treatment they consider urgent and necessary. CHIDAOBA will contact me as soon as possible. Medical costs are my responsibility or that of my child's insurance.

9 Release of liability

To the extent permitted by the law of Georgia, I release CHIDAOBA, its organisers, coaches, staff and partner venues from any claim for injury, illness, loss or damage arising from my child's participation in the camp, its training and its activities. This release does not cover harm caused intentionally or through gross negligence.

10 Photos and video

Photos and video are taken during the camp for the CHIDAOBA website and social media.

☐ I agree that my child may appear in them ☐ I do not agree

11 Travelling from abroad

If your child travels to Georgia without one or both parents, border officers may ask for a notarised letter of consent from the parent or parents who are not travelling. Please check the rules of your country and of Georgia before you book flights.
